7. The Clan Hotel

First-timers in Singapore will find The Clan to be a particularly amenable base. This 30-storey hotel lies nestled between Telok Ayer and Chinatown, meaning guests can explore the likes of the Buddha Tooth Relic Temple and Nagore Dargah Indian Muslim Heritage Centre nearby. Those staying in the hotel's Master Series rooms can also join a complimentary Local Precinct Tour, diving into Singapore's past, but there are plenty of cultural encounters that any guest can book, including calligraphy classes, a brewery tour and a fascinating look at the lives of female Chinese immigrants in the early 1900s.
